GUIDE TO SEPARATE COLLECTION

A proper separate collection of waste is the best way to preserve and maintain natural resources to our advantage and the environment in which we live.

We'll try to help you to do it through. How?

We created a short guide with inside a “waste-handbook”, a tool that alphabetically lists the most common waste-types in order to quickly understand how to confer them properly.

Check the guide every time you have doubts and/or hesitations.

Everything on its place!

DOOR-TO-DOOR SEPARATE COLLECTION

Separate collection consists of separating the waste produced in our own homes before their conferral into the right bags and bins.

Environmentally, this is the best way to manage waste, because:

- You have to consider waste as a resource in recovering a part of the materials and starting to recycle them;
- It allows you to achieve important goals on a personal and on a family level, as well as on the social and environmental level, since it contributes to:

SEPARATE COLLECTION

THE VALUE OF BEHAVIOUR

The managing of the urban waste cycle by separating and integrating them, the care and maintenance of the image and decorum of the territory and the qualification of the urban structure are the primary facilities of the city.

The activation of a "daily rules" system, shared and respected and to be respected, is the basic element for the coexistence and integration of the citizens.

In the urban waste cycle's managing this is possible thanks to the "VALUE OF BEHAVIOUR" and to the "SHARED RESPONSIBILITY" of the common goods.

First of all, the management of urban waste requires the local activation of actions for a new model of the asset management chain, from their production to the final recycling and recovery, through conscious consumption at individual and community level.

The activation of a correct conferral, starting from the care of the local urban and environmental context, becomes the first factor of an economic rebirth of the territory.

In the new management "the value of behavior" becomes essential, both citizens and tourists, must aim at the eco-sustainability of their home and the local community.

In that manner managing will be much more than a simple performance of services with no regard of the behavior and involvement of the consumers.
